Landfill concerns under discussion

Members of the St. Paul County Council attended a special meeting of Elk Point Town Council on August 21 to discuss concerns regarding the sanitary landfill jointly operated by the two jurisdictions, south of Elk Point.

Five concerns have been identified by the Public Health Officer, which must be met in order to receive an operating permit for the landfill. It was determined by the Health Officer that if the requirements were met and the landfill could show a lengthy period of proper operation, an operating permit would be operated.

The concerns listed were removal of the chemical container site, establishment of a burning pit, establishment of a separate area for metal, restriction of dumping to a 100 foot length rather than on the entire site of the pit, and compaction of garbage every 10 to 14 days rather than the current four times per year.

If the operating permit was issued, it has been determined that there would be room to remove the present 300 foot setback and thus extend the use of the pit by at least five years.

The County and Town discussed manning the site two days per week, as an effective way of controlling improper use of the dumping area, but did not reach an agreement on how this would be paid for. The closure of two landfills in the area is not deemed to be a problem because replacement pits are to be opened.

The Health Officer has indicated that he will issue a burning permit if a burning pit is dug or an incinerator is installed. The County will have to remove the chemical containers currently stored on the site, and will also build the burning pit, establish a site for scrap metal and make adjustments to the dump site so that people will have access to 100 feet of length along the edge.

A regional landfill in the future is deemed inevitable, but fulfilling the conditions and obtaining the operating permit could stave off this outcome for five years. Costs of running a regional landfill are currently at least $40 per capita per year, and it was felt that this would be an extreme burden on ratepayers.

By-election set for October

A municipal by-election to fill vacancies on both Elk Point Town Council and the County School Board has been set for mid-October.

Janice Van Maarion has resigned from her position as the Town of Elk Point representative on the County of St. Paul No. 19 School Board, due to her husband's job transfer, while Morris Cooper resigned from Town Council in late spring.

September 18 has been set for Nomination Day for both positions, while the by-election will take place October 16 or as soon as practical after that date.

Second Pan-Can Donation

OORP Donates To Seniors

Elk Point Order of the Royal Purple has given their support, in the form of a $5000 donation, toward the Pioneer Circle's new seniors centre. Florence Demchuk and Virginia Smereka accepted the cheque from Lady Anne Buck, Lady Florence McGinnis and Honored Royal Lady Mary Kryvenchuk last week. HRL Kryvenchuk offered the seniors congratulations on their achievement, and said the OORP is "glad to be a part of the project."

Council back to work

Elk Point Town Council got back to work August 26 after a five week break which had been interrupted only by one special meeting, August 21. Council made quick work of the varied agenda, covering a large amount of business in under two hours.

Invitations to take part in Information Night and in the Terry Fox Run were received from the Community Services Board. It was agreed that since numerous Town departments are involved in Information Night, the Town would be well represented there. Ken Kendall will represent the Administration in the Terry Fox Run, and any available councillors will also take part in that September 15 event. The Town Office will be a pickup spot for pledge sheets for the Run.

A report from the MD of St. Paul Foundation said that four applicants had been interviewed for the position of caretaker and groundskeeper for Fort George Manor and Buckingham House, with Henry Roscoe hired for an August 12 start date.

The respective advantages of membership in the Local Government Administrators' Association and the Certified Engineering Technologists' Association for Town Administrator Ken Kendall were debated, with Council agreeing to support Kendall's membership in the latter and to pay his registration fee.

The Public Safety Committee reported that the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department has decided to purchase a used ambulance to use as a rescue van. The Town has once again been denied grant funding for this purchase this year, so the Department has decided to go ahead on their own. The County of St. Paul has indicated they are willing to pay the $2500 share of the purchase as discussed last year, while the Town will commit whatever funds can be raised from the sale of the present rescue van. The Town will contact the Fire Chief to discuss arrangements for advertising and sale of the present van.

A report on the Northern Lights Library System was given. The position of director has not been filled as yet, but agreements to lease the former Work Warehouse building for the NLLS Headquarters, with an option to purchase in three years, have been signed. It is the general consensus that the new director will start work in the new facility in Elk Point. The NLLS is attempting to meet with the Hon. Ken Kowalski this week to arrange funding for the necessary renovations to the building. The headquarters could be in operation by late 1991 or early in the new year. Ron Young is the new chairman of the NLLS Board. Vermilion has been added to the system, while Bonnyville has officially bowed out.

Three delegates from the Pioneer Circle appeared before Council to request forgiveness of taxes on their newly acquired Seniors Centre. Council voted unanimously to comply with the request, with the Administration to investigate the possibility of a permanent waiver for the property.

Public Works Superintendent Ron Fraess reported that his crew has completed their portion of the utility line installation to the Agricultural Fairgrounds. A total of 78 metres of sewer line with two manholes and 91 metres of 6 inch water line were installed, at an approximate total cost of $13,800. This is close to the original estimate for the project, despite considerable overtime for the crew which became necessary when it was discovered that the water line was two feet deeper than shown on the diagram.

Book drop break-in

Elk Point Public Library was the victim of a break-in last week, when an unknown person or persons entered the library via the book return slot and escaped with the contents of the Conscience Jar, where patrons deposit fines for overdue books.

The theft was discovered when library staff determined that none of them had removed the money from the jar to make a bank deposit. It was then noticed that the hinge on the book return had been broken off, and the metal chute apparently removed and replaced.

The culprit or culprits, who were apparently small in size and had left the building by the same opening, had not been apprehended at the time of writing. Librarian Doreen Mayner said that the return has since been repaired and that the library is "very fortunate that [the money] was all that was taken" in the incident.

Annual Open Light Horse show

Charlene Baker

Elk Point Agricultural Society

On Saturday, August 24, the Elk Point Agricultural Society held its Annual Open Light Horse Show. There was an excellent turnout this year with 63 horses registered from all over northeast Alberta. There were 31 show classes, up from 26 last year, with a variety of English and Western events, and age divisions for Junior and Senior riders. Three Halter classes were added to this year's agenda along with a Junior Horse Pleasure Class for which only young horses 4 years and under are eligible. Prize money was awarded at $20 for first, $15 for second, $10 for third and $5 for fourth along with rosette ribbons to 6th place. The judge was Bev Hood from Gibbons, Alta. who did a super job with the large classes.

There were three High Point Blanket awards given out to the horse and rider who won the most placings during the day. The 10 and Under category blanket donated by Terry Cartier's Western Wear in Vegreville was won by Allan Baker of Elk Point on Akbar Laster. The 11 - 15 category blanket was donated by Bailey's Western Wear of St. Paul and was won by Tanya Kenyon of Elk Point riding Canadiana Red. Only two points behind Tanya was Shanna Baker of Elk Point riding Kinda Catty. The Senior Division blanket was donated by the HV Horse Centre of Bonnyville, and was won by Lise Tellier of Bonnyville, riding Special Advantage. The senior division was also a close placing with Darcy Reid of Vermilion riding Sweet Eclipse only one point away. Congratulations, riders, on your accomplishments!

Our show is an approved Alberta Equestrian Federation Heritage Circuit Show and as such the people competing may collect points for their placings to qualify for a provincial show at the end of the season. In our North East Region we have more shows participating in this circuit every year which helps our local riders and the quality of our shows.

At the end of the day after the Jackpot Barrels and Poles, a fun class of Ride and Run was announced. This fun class has one rider and one runner in a team. There are 3 low jumps in the course, the object being the team with the fastest time, but the horse and rider may NOT pass the the finish line before the runner. This year, it was winner-take-all. With 17 teams entered it made for a very exciting class. The teams of Murry and Lisa Neilson of Elk Point and Allison and Nicki Reid of Grand Centre were tied for first, so a run-off was called. The times were very close but Murry and Lisa took home the cash. Next year they will have to defend their championship title!

A very big thank you to our major show sponsors, Alberta Truss of Edmonton for help with the ribbons, Elk Point Turbo for help in sponsoring the Junior and Senior classes, and Klinger's Oilfield Services for the added money in the Jackpot Barrels and Poles. Also, we'd like to thank all our sponsors who helped with the many other show expenses and helped to make our show a success: Ultimate Glass and Upholstery, Corfu Restaurant, St. Paul, Dan's Auto Body, Marsh Automotive, Leeway Oilfield Services, Joe Wadleigh, County Councillor John Zenko, Pan Canadian Petroleum, Amoco Canada and Norcen Energy Resources.

More postal hassle

Once again we are to be subjected to a Postal Strike. One more excuse for the postal rates to soar ever upward. We seem to be able to accept these merciless gougings year after year, coming in small stabs and digs, until we agree to pay anything, just to get the mail moving again.

If it were thrust on us all at once, we might sing a different tune. Say you are an average poor letter writer, and the only letters you stick in the mail are a couple of dozen cards at Christmas, maybe one a month to an offspring or parent, a few subscriptions, a few charities subscribed to, a few bills you can't pay at the bank. Adds up to, say - z (24 12 5 6 12) 59, all these times (at present) 43 cents $23.37. Not much, huh? For postage for a year.

But now add in any parcels you mail out, all the postage you pay on any magazines or newspapers you receive, all the junk mail you get stuffed willy-nilly into your box (Of course you pay for it - sooner or later - how else do you think it would get there?) then add on the postage for the power bill, the gas bill, the phone bill, your tax bill, water bill - you get the picture? It goes on and on.

Well, we know there is no free lunch. Every time the postal rates climb, we get struck again...never mind the 'striking' business going on in cities across the country.

I have a clipping here, called "Bob Greene's America," borrowed from my uncle, who lives in Edmonton, who received it from his son, who lives in Japan, who clipped it from an American paper that made it over to Japan, and was dated February 8, 1991. This Bob Greene was bemoaning the fact that his postage rate (US) had climbed up to a startling 29 cents per letter.

Then he delved back into history to find that postal rates in his country had moved a first class letter for 2 cents for some 45 years, when it bounced up to 3 cents, where it remained for another 26 years, then soared to 4 cents per letter. This was back in 1958. As years flew by, the stamp price leaped slowly upward, until, as he stated, it was now, in 1991, a monstrous 29 cents per letter. I'm sure every hike the stamp took in America, it did a double take here.

I am a rabid stamp collector (not that I ever get them into albums or books!), and in my collection are early years' stamps of 1 cent, two cent, even a couple of half cent stamps, off postcards of the early 1900s!

This Bob Greene was also comparing the cost of hotel rooms, and he found the price of a room (in the same hotel) had gone from $36 in 1973, to a rousing $281.46 in 1987 (including taxes). One could figure out what percentage that is - if they wished - I won't try. But it looks like a lot, to me.

So, back to Canada, and our upcoming postal rate increase, which I haven't heard announced yet, but which our common sense tells us will be the outcome. How much will it be? What will we stand for? As it is, I use the phone more and more, to send greetings, and inquiries, to visit and complain - all the things I used to write out in letters. It simply costs less and gets you the answer quicker.

Perhaps all the postal workers who will be laid off can apply for jobs with the telephone companies? It's an interesting thought.

I found a bit of information about our postal system, page 1458 in my CANADIAN ENCYCLOPEDIA. Here it says that the first stuck-on postage stamps were sold in England, May 6 of 1840. These were devised so that postage could be paid before the letter was sent, instead of attempting to collect it from the receiver.

By Irene Magnusson

Our first Canadian stamp came out on April 23, 1851, and was called a 'three pence Beaver,' and was the first ever printed stamp with a picture on it. Earlier ones always had pictures of rulers of the countries of use, or some other official symbol.

In later years, the designs of Canadian stamps have been progressively more fancy and colorful, with competitions, at times, for designs. All this fancywork makes the collection of stamps more fun, also much harder to get one of each, unless one gets a running order from Ottawa for copies or books of each new stamp as it comes out. This can get costly, and it's something I've never done, but it could be very interesting.

As it is, I have dozens and dozens of different designs, some very pretty and colorful, some weird, most interesting. I think I liked the ones of various birds, that came out in the Expo year of 1986, where the birds' wings or beaks lapped over the white edge of the stamps, giving them a touch almost of reality.

But in the interest of economy, wouldn't it be wiser to pick one set style, say the one of our Queen, or the newish flag design, and just stick with it? Surely it costs piles of cash to make 47 new designs every year? Someone has to get paid for drawing the design, someone else for setting up the dies to print them. That's if we ever look for cost-cutting.

Since 1965, the Postal Workers Union have been on strike 18 times, disrupting our mail, gathering whopping wage increases and other benefits. One wonders if there will ever be an end to it?

Back to the real world

It's September. Summer is over for another year, and now we must get back to the real world of school, work, meetings and winter sports.

The school buses are back on the roads, which means we must be extra careful when we see those flashing lights up ahead. In town, it means watching out for kids who may not be watching out for you as they hurry or dawdle off to school. It means remembering that there is a traffic detour during the bus loading time after school each day, and planning our route accordingly.

September normally means we have to also watch out for combines, grain trucks and loads of bales, but in this year of early harvest, we are already familiar with this sight and are accustomed to slowing down behind these pieces of equipment and passing with care.

It's time for clubs and groups to start meeting again for the fall and winter season. What is

YOUR group doing for excitement this year? If you would like to let us know, please appoint a 'club reporter' and have them turn in a brief report to us for publication. We are pleased to run these free of charge, and, while we cannot attend your meetings to report on them, we are quite willing to turn up when you would like a picture of a major event. Please check with our editor if you have questions on how to write up your club's happenings.

One of the organizations which are now getting back to work is the Chamber of Commerce, which will hold their first meeting after the summer break today at noon, at the Empress Restaurant. All business persons and other interested individuals are urged to attend and bring a friend. The Fort George - Buckingham House Bicentennial is rapidly approaching, and our community has a lot to do to prepare to greet the biggest influx of tourists ever. Make sure you're there to help with the plans for this gigantic event.

Our Past

Steve Andrishak

A business that was not located in Elk Point but one that was of great importance to the early settlers of our district was the Wiebe's Flour Mill in Vermilion. Flour, during the early years was very much needed by the settlers and since there was no railroad nearby to haul it in from the large flour mills in Edmonton and Calgary, the early settlers had no choice but to freight their wheat to Vermilion and have it milled there.

The Wiebe Flour Mill was founded in 1910 by William R. Wiebe and his father Percy. It remained a family oriented business during the many years it was in operation. In later years William Wiebe's two sons, Orlando and Art helped to keep this thriving business in operation. During the middle 1930s they had to rely on some outside help as Art was unavailable during the winter months, his time was being spent in Chicago, where he played defence for the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

The Wiebe Flour Mill attracted business from an area of about sixty miles surrounding the town of Vermilion. Many settlers, including those settled in the Elk Point district, patronized this mill for many years. These settlers would load up their wagons with wheat one day and then start out bright and early the next morning for Vermilion. The trip usually required two days each way to complete and sometimes even longer if the flour mill had a lineup of customers. Arriving during the late evening, after a long slow trip, the settlers would leave their teams at one of the many livery barns in Vermilion, then seek lodging in one of Vermilion's three hotels or at the home of some acquaintance. The following morning they would have their wheat milled into flour providing the mill was not overcrowded. If everything went well they were able to leave for home during the early afternoon. Usually they tried to make it half way home the first day - in later years the Monkman store site served as a stopover, since it was located half way between Vermilion and Elk Point. Right from the very start, the Wiebe flour mill proved to be a thriving firm, one that was also of great importance to the many other business firms in Vermilion as well. The many settlers who patronized the mill also left many dollars with the other places of business while there.

The old flour mill

Sometime after 1910, the Wiebe family established a second flour mill. This one was located at Myrnam, 32 miles north west of their original Vermilion mill. On August 3, 1914, ill fortune struck their thriving Vermilion mill and it was destroyed by fire. The Myrnam mill was then closed and moved into Vermilion where it resumed business on the burned out site.

Besides serving the many early settlers surrounding Vermilion, this mill also played a vital role during and after World War II. During the war years this mill was engaged full time (24 hours per day). Flour was shipped overseas to the United Kingdom and later to many other countries in Europe as well as the Middle and Far East. The Wiebe Flour Mill used the "Acme" label on all their products and for many years they were well known locally and abroad.

In later years the home market was taken over by the much larger mills located in Edmonton, Calgary and Moose Jaw. With the arrival of the railroad into Elk Point in 1927, mills such as the Robin Hood Mills, the Maple Leaf Milling Co. and the Purity Flour Mills began shipping flour to our district in carload lots. Our early settlers no longer had reason to make the long slow trips to Vermilion in order to have their wheat milled into flour. Consequently, this drop off in business eventually resulted in the closure of the Wiebe Flour Mill.

During the many years the Wiebe Flour Mill was in operation, it served the district well. Its closure was very much regretted.

What's news at the library?

It's hard to believe that another summer has whizzed by and it's time to bid farewell to our summer students who did such an excellent job with our summer programming. This was Lisa Lukevich's second summer with us. We wish her success as she enters her second year of Education at the University of Alberta. Mary Masse will still help us again this winter in the library and we are pleased to have her back. Tina Bjorkman is off to university this fall after six years of helping in the library. Tina did a wonderful job and we miss her. Thanks for all your years of dedication to the library, Tina. Margaret McGregor is our new student helper. She has been working on Saturdays all summer and will continue for the winter. Nice to have you aboard, Margaret. Just a reminder that Preschool Storytime will resume its old starting time of 10:30 a.m. on Fridays, now that the summer has passed.

Featured in the library is a display of Alberta Authored / Published books purchased with a matching grant from the Alberta Foundation For The Literary Arts. The Gentle Counsel of White Cloud by the husband and wife team Larry Wayne and Grace Jonston, gifted spiritualists from Calgary. This book tells you how to draw inspiration and support from your guides in the spirit world and the Divine Source, how to release negativity, hatred, anger, anxiety, worry and fear. Published by the Glenbow Museum is the book Medicine Boy And Other Cree Tales. This book is illustrated by well known artist Henry Nanooch of Edmonton and written by Eleanor Brass of Peace River, Alberta.

Another book in our fur trade collection bought by the Historical Society is Fur Trade In Canada by Keith Wilson.

Two new children's books just published that contain environmental issues on earth care are:

Trash Attack by Candace Savage and For The Birds by Margaret Atwood. In Earthcare Books, some of Canada's top writers and illustrators describe pollution and environmental issues that are affecting our world and the way we all live. From garbage to energy to the pollution that is endangering plants and animals, these books tackle difficult topics in a lively, accessible and optimistic way.

The staff would like to thank Edward James for his donation of music cassettes.

DANGEROUS WEAPON

It's a handy tool to have when you're building a new fence or expanding a corral. It can also get you into deep trouble. Remember, there are more than 150,000 miles of buried facilities in Alberta — gas lines, high pressure pipelines, telephone and electric cables and more. And a good portion are located in rural Alberta, very possibly under your property.
